1. Begin advisory according to personal preference.
2. Take attendance.
3. Read Announcements.
4. Distribute copies of the AG Syllabus.
5. Go over the syllabus and be sure that students understand that AG is a graded class. The assignments are not optional.
6. Please take time to fully discuss the grading system.
7. The syllabus is Assignment 1 and will be due one week from being distributed.
8. TEACHERS: Please maintain a copy of the signed syllabus on file for the duration of the year. You will also keep a copy of the signed student handbook agreement (next week) as well. From time to time administration, counselors, and other school personnel may request these forms. If you need a binder to help manage the forms please ask the main office staff.
9. As you read through the Junior Schedule Review document with your students, please write down any names of students whose schedules need immediate attention (based on the questions you ask as you read through the worksheet with your students). All other student schedule changes requests will need to be processed through the yellow schedule change request forms located outside the counseling office.

10. Have your students review their transcript from their freshman and sophomore years. Explain that the transcript is a record of all of the classes and corresponding grades they have earned in their high school career. Please point out the cumulative GPA (bottom left-hand corner of the transcript) and the credit summary box in the upper right hand corner. If they see something they have questions about, please advise them to make an appointment with their counselor to discuss their transcript.
11. Please return the Junior Schedule Review worksheet to the Junior counselor (Ken Allison) by the end of the work day.
12. End advisory according to personal preference.
